PLAN OF THE LAW SCHOOL.

ORGANIZATION.

The Law School is a Department of "The Columbian College, D. C.," established in 1826, and originally presided over by Judge Wm. Cranch and Wm. T. Carroll, Esq. The building, formerly known as Old Trinity Church on Judiciary Square, 5th street, between D and E, now fitted up with Recitation and Lecture Halls, is devoted to this Department of the College.

DESIGN.

The chief aim of the School is to give a thorough training for ordinary practice of the legal profession. It proposes at the same time to furnish the means of general study in collateral branches of a finished legal education, such as the principles and the history of Ethics and of Constitutional and International Law; and also to give direction to the special studies of young men wishing to fit themselves for practice in either of the States of the American Union.

ADMISSION.

As the Course of Study demands maturity of mind, it is adapted either to graduates of Colleges, or to those who have attained by study thorough discipline of their mental powers. Any, however, who desire, are admitted to the Recitations and Lectures of the School; their graduation depending on their success in mastering the daily exercises and in passing the final examinations.

SESSIONS.

The entire Course of Study embraces two years: beginning with the second Wednesday in October and closing the second Wednesday of June following. The exercises of the School are all held after the usual office hours, which close at 3 o'clock; thus giving to students the entire day for study, for reading in the public Libraries, and for attending the several Courts of the Capital; and at the same time enabling young men engaged in office duties to avail themselves of the facilities of the School.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The School is divided into two classes, a Junior and Senior. Daily Recitations, in connection with Text Books, are conducted by the Officers of Instruction: the Teacher reading a prelection, abstract, or commentary on the appointed lesson, and questioning each pupil both on the text and comment. Students are desired to take notes of the Regular Lectures, and are expected to be prepared for examination by the Lecturer. The Course of Recitations embraces the important departments of Common Law and its Commentaries; of Criminal, Commercial, and Admiralty Jurisprudence; of Evidence and Pleadings; and of Equity and Equity Jurisprudence and Pleadings. The Lectures relate to special topics, such as Medical Jurisprudence, bearing directly on the studies of the Class Room; or treat upon subsidiary branches essential to the comprehensive student, such as Ethics, Constitutional and International Law.

TEXT BOOKS.

The best in each department will always be chosen. The following list, subject to revision, is at present the preferred selection:

FIRST YEAR OR JUNIOR COURSE.—Blackstone's Commentaries; Williams on Real Property; Williams on Personal Property; Chitty on Contracts; Byles on Bills; Kent's Commentaries, (1st vol.)

SECOND YEAR OR SENIOR COURSE.—Stephens on Pleading; Greenleaf on Evidence; Story on the Law of Partnership; Adams' Equity; Mitford's Chancery Pleading; Parsons' Maritime Law.

MOOT COURT.

A Moot Court is held each week, at which Judge Merrick presides. Two Associate Judges are selected each month from the Senior Class. Each case is argued by four members of the School ; a Senior and Junior counsel and advocate upon each side being selected from their respective classes. An opportunity is thus furnished to all the students for frequent practice both in the preparation of arguments and of judicial opinions.

CLUBS.

Associations for mutual improvement, both in the discussion of subjects connected with Law studies and practice in forensic debate, are encouraged. The Halls of the Law Building, warmed and lighted, are free for the use of such Associations.

LIBRARIES.

The Library of the Law School will be furnished with all the important Text Books, Reports, and other Books of reference. The unequalled collection of the Congressional Library is open during six hours of each day to all who wish to examine any authority, or to take notes from any book of reference, ancient or modern.

SPECIAL FACILITIES.

The City of Washington furnishes beyond any other city of the Union special facilities for the Law student as well as for the general scholar. Besides the Local Courts, both Criminal and of Common Pleas, the sessions of the Federal Courts, both the Circuit and Supreme Courts, are invaluable for practical instruction to students. Besides these, the discussions on Patent Law, the deliberations of the Court of Claims, the frequent sessions of Military and Admiralty tribunals, and the debates on Constitutional and International Law in the Halls of Congress, form a combination of facilities, to one desirous of general improvement, such as no other city affords. In addition to these direct aids, the best Lectures on subsidiary topics can be secured from able men in every department of legal science who resort to the Federal Capital.

EXAMINATIONS.

The Lectures and Recitations may be attended by any who desire to pursue either special or general Law studies. All members of the two regular classes, and all candidates for graduation, besides the daily examinations of the Class Room, are required to pass a general examination at the end of each session on all the studies of the year, in the presence of the Faculty or of such Committee as the Trustees of the College may appoint.

GRADUATION.

The power to confer the degrees both of Bachelor and Doctor in Laws is given to "The Columbian College," by their charter granted by the United States Congress. The degree of Bachelor in Laws is granted to students in the Law Department, who having passed either one or both years of the prescribed course in the school, sustain satisfactory examinations in all the studies of both the Junior and Senior Classes. The degrees will be publicly conferred, either at the closing exercise of the session of the Law Department, or at the Annual Commencement of the Academical Department, on the fourth Wednesday in June.

EXPENSES.

The entire charge for Tuition, Lectures, use of Library, and all facilities of the School, is eighty dollars for a single year, or one hundred and fifty dollars for two years. Tickets of admission to Recitations and Lectures are issued quarterly on payment of twenty dollars in advance. Tickets to attendants on Lectures and other exercises of the School, who are not candidates for graduation, or subjects of examination, are furnished at ten dollars per quarter in advance. A charge of six dollars is made for diplomas, and of three dollars for engrossed certificates of attainment. Students from abroad can obtain board at prices as reasonable as in other cities, and at expenses graduated to their preference or necessity.

COURSES OF STUDY.

The Collegiate Department embraces two regular Courses of Study : first, the Classical Course, for the Degree of Bachelor of Arts ; and, second, the Philosophical Course, for the Degree of Bachelor of Philosophy. A selection of studies is permitted in the case of young men who do not wish to become candidates for a degree. A Select Course of Study may be pursued for the Degree of Master of Arts.

TIME AND TERMS OF ADMISSION.

The regular Examinations for admission to College are held on Monday and Tuesday of Commencement week, and on the Monday and Tuesday which immediately precede the opening of the session. Every applicant for membership in College is required to deliver to the President testimonials of good moral character; and if he come from another institution, he must present a certificate of honorable dismissal.

Candidates for the Degree of Bachelor of Arts, in order to obtain admission to the Freshman Class, must, unless they have passed through the regular course in the Preparatory Department, sustain an examination in the following studies:

English Grammar; Modern Geography; Arithmetic; Algebra, through Quadratic Equations; Geometry, first three books; Sophocles' or Kuhner's Greek Grammar; Jacob's or Felton's Greek Reader; Andrews and Stoddart's Latin Grammar; Cæsar's Commentaries, or some equivalent; Cicero's Select Orations, Virgil.

For entrance upon the Course prescribed for the Degree of Bachelor of Philosophy, students are subjected to an examination in the English studies and Mathematics already named; in the Latin of the second year of the Preparatory Department, or an equivalent; and also in two additional books of Geometry.

Candidates for admission to any class must be examined in all the studies which have been required of the class they propose to enter.

Students who pursue a select Course must undergo the same examination as is required for admission to the Course of Bachelor of Philosophy; and, if they propose to study an Ancient Language, they must also sustain in that Language the examination prescribed for candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

* Required in Philosophical course; elective in Classical.

† Every other week; alternating with Composition.

COLLEGE FACILITIES.

Rhetorical Exercises.

Compositions and Declamations each twice a month are required throughout the whole Course; and during the last year and a half, the pieces spoken are original, and must be presented, before their delivery, to the Professor of Rhetoric for criticism. The advantage of attendance on the debates in Congress makes this department one of great value to the student.

Literary Societies.

There are two Literary Societies formed by the students of the College, the Enosinian and the Philophrenian, which meet weekly at their halls for the purpose of improvement in Debate and Composition.

Libraries:

The College Library contains about five thousand volumes, and is especially valuable in the department of Theology. The Libraries of the Enosinian and Philophrenian Societies contain about three thousand volumes, principally in the departments of History and Literature. The Libraries of Congress, of the various Departments of Government, and of the Smithsonian Institution, are valuable auxiliaries to the students.

Prizes.

The "Davis Prizes for Elocution," provided by the income of a fund contributed by Hon. Isaac Davis, LL. D., of Massachusetts, consist of two gold medals, awarded to the most successful contestants in Declamation.

The "Staughton Prize for the Latin Language and Literature," and the "Elton Prize for the Greek Language and Literature," provided by the income of a fund contributed by Rev. Romeo Elton, D. D., of Exeter, England, consist of two gold medals, awarded to the best scholar and writer in the Greek and Latin Languages.

The "Gale prizes for Physical Sciences," provided by the income of a fund contributed by L. D. Gale, M. D., of Washington, D. C., consist of two gold medals, awarded to the best two scholars in the Physical Sciences.

The "Ruggles Prizes for Mathematics," provided by the income of a fund given by Wm. Ruggles, LL. D., Senior Professor at the College, consist of two gold medals, awarded to the best two scholars in the Pure and Applied Mathematics.

The medals are awarded at the Annual Commencement by a committee of gentlemen appointed by the Faculty. Any member of the third Philosophical, Junior or Senior Classes may be a contestant for the "Davis Prizes;" any member of the Junior or Senior Classes for the "Staughton Prizes," and any member of the third Philosophical or Senior Classes for the "Gale" or "Ruggles Prizes," provided he shall have attained during any one year of his course the grade of nine in the department to which the prize is attached, an average of eight in all the studies of his course, and shall not have fallen below six in any study.

In 1865, the First Prize in Elocution was awarded to Dan'l G. Gillette, of D. C.; and the Second Prize to John W. Custis, of Pennsylvania.

The First Gale Prize for proficiency in the Physical Sciences was awarded to Judson T. Cull, of D. C.; and the second Prize for proficiency in the same to George C. Samson, of D. C.

Lectures.

Courses of Lectures in various departments of Science, Art, and Literature can be secured at the College from men of eminence residing temporarily at Washington. The Lectures at the Smithsonian Institution are free to all who choose to attend.

Public Worship.

Prayers, accompanied by the reading of the Scriptures, are offered daily in the College Chapel. All students are required to attend this service; and also some place of worship regularly on the Sabbath, the selection being left to themselves, or with their parents or guardian.

Commencement, Vacation, and Examinations.

The Annual Commencement is held on the last Wednesday in June. It is succeeded by a vacation extending to the last Wednesday in September. The College year, embracing nine months, is divided into two terms. The first term commences on the last Wednesday in September, and continues to Friday preceding the third Monday in February. The second term commences on the third Monday in February, and ends with Commencement. Public examinations, in all the studies pursued, are held immediately before the close of each term.

Examinations are also required annually, during the College Course, in the common branches of an English Education.

Charges for Students not Boarding in College.

1. Admission Fee, (paid but once, on entrance,)	$10 00
2. Tuition for the year,	55 00
3. Room rent, servant's attendance,	22 00
4. Fuel, public and private,	10 00
5. Use of Furniture, if provided by the College,	6 00

The College buildings, greatly improved just prior to the war, and now thoroughly renovated, are warmed by steam, the most healthful and agreeable heat. Furniture may be provided, if preferred, by students not boarding in College.

* The prices of board and washing, during the depreciation of the currency, are fixed at $4 per week for board and 75 cents per dozen for washing. The prices will be brought to the original standard as the currency approaches a specie value.

The annual expense to students boarding in College is about $220; to those not boarding in College, about $85.

Students from abroad, whose parents request it in writing, will be allowed to board in private families. In order to the cleanliness of the rooms, for which he is responsible, it is required that bedding, three pieces at least per week, be washed at the steward's laundry, at the charge of 75 cents per dozen.

One half of all bills must be paid at the opening, and the other half at the middle of the session. The previous settlement of bills is requisite to admission to recitations.

Facilities to Students for the Christian Ministry.

It has ever been a leading object of the founders and liberal patrons of the College, to furnish facilities to students having in view the Christian Ministry; and large numbers of candidates for that office, of various religious denominations, have received the advantages afforded to such students. It would be doing violence to the cherished hopes of those who have given nearly all the funds which the College now possesses, should this their design not be sacredly kept in view. Tuition will therefore be gratuitous to those of limited means who shall be recommended by the Faculty as worthy beneficiaries; and in special cases, further facilities may be furnished.

GENERAL RULES OF DISCIPLINE.

As the objects of the College demand that it be not made the resort of the idle and negligent, nor of the dissolute and the lawless, its discipline is adapted to secure dismissal, after a sufficient trial, of all those whose residence can be of no benefit either to themselves or to the College.

A merit-roll is therefore kept, and against the name of each student is placed a numerical mark designating the name of each College exercise; also a numerical mark of demerit from one to ten for violations of College laws. When any student has fifty marks of demerit, his parents or guardians will be informed of it; and when he shall have one hundred such marks for any one term, or one hundred and fifty for any one year, he must leave the Institution.

The average of the merit-roll, including all absence from College exercises and all excuses granted, however reasonable, will be sent half-quarterly to the parents or guardians of the students. In all cases where they think that too much liberty is allowed the student, they are requested frankly to communicate their views to the President.

Every student, after having signed a declaration of his deliberate intention to obey all the laws of the Institution, so long as he shall remain a member of it, and after having received a certificate of matriculation from the President, must deposit with the Registrar of the College a sum equal to one-half of all the annual College charges; and no student can be permitted to recite, until he shall have arranged for his College bills to the satisfaction of the Registrar. No abatement for absence, after admission, is made in the bill for board for less than one month, nor in any other College bill for less than one term; except in case of protracted illness.

Every student is required to make choice of his studies immediately upon the commencement of the term, to present himself at the first exercise, and punctually to attend all the exercises pertaining to his course.

The advantages of an attendance upon Congress, upon the Lectures at the Smithsonian Institution, etc., are regarded as facilities to students of the College. In order that these advantages may be secured, with profit to the student, and without detriment to his proficiency in study, the recitations of the advanced Classes are brought into the early portion of the day; closing generally at one o'clock P. M., and on Saturday at eleven o'clock A. M. Any parent or guardian who desires a special privilege for his son or ward in this respect, must signify it in writing to the Faculty.

All students are required to abstain from whatever is inconsistent with a due observance of the Sabbath, and regularly to attend, every Sabbath morning, such particular place of Divine Worship as may be chosen by themselves, or by their parents or guardians. On Sabbath night they are expected to attend religious service at the College Chapel when such service shall be appointed. But any student may for sufficient reasons be excused by the President, or by one of the Professors, to attend, either morning or night, other places of worship.

All immorality in word or deed, and all ungentlemanly conduct are strictly forbidden. No student is allowed to attend the theatre, or any such place; or to visit any bar-room or similar establishment; or to visit any hotel but for special and adequate reasons. No student is allowed to have at his command any deadly weapon, or gunpowder; any cards or other means of gambling; or any intoxicating liquor. No camphene or burning fluid is allowed in the College building.

Any student is entitled to an honorable dismissal at any time according to his actual standing, provided his College bills are fully discharged, and provided, if a minor, he has the written sanction of his parent or guardian; but this written sanction shall be left with the President. It is earnestly hoped that, whenever a student can no longer cheerfully comply with College rules, he will leave the Institution but no student who resists College law, or who endeavors to influence other members of the Institution against either the officers or the laws of the College, can be honorably dismissed.

ORGANIZATION.

The Law School is a Department of "The Columbian College, D. C.," established in 1826, and originally presided over by Judge Wm. Cranch and Wm. T. Carroll, Esq. The building, formerly known as Old Trinity Church on Judiciary Square, 5th street, between D and E, now fitted up with Recitation and Lecture Halls, is devoted to this Department of the College.

DESIGN.

The chief aim of the School is to give a thorough training for ordinary practice of the legal profession. It proposes at the same time to furnish the means of general study in collateral branches of a finished legal education, such as the principles and the history of Ethics and of Constitutional and International Law; and also to give direction to the special studies of young men wishing to fit themselves for practice in either of the States of the American Union.

ADMISSION.

As the Course of Study demands maturity of mind, it is adapted either to graduates of Colleges, or to those who have attained by study thorough discipline of their mental powers. Any, however, who desire, are admitted to the Recitations and Lectures of the School; their graduation depending on their success in mastering the daily exercises and in passing the final examinations.

SESSIONS.

The entire Course of Study embraces two years: beginning with the second Wednesday in October and closing the second Wednesday of June following. The exercises of the School are all held after the usual office hours, which close at 3 o'clock; thus giving to students the entire day for study, for reading in the public Libraries, and for attending the several Courts of the Capital; and at the same time enabling young men engaged in office duties to avail themselves of the facilities of the School.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The School is divided into two classes, a Junior and Senior. Daily Recitations, in connection with Text Books, are conducted by the Officers of Instruction: the Teacher reading a prelection, abstract, or commentary on the appointed lesson, and questioning each pupil both on the text and comment. Students are desired to take notes of the Regular Lectures, and are expected to be prepared for examination by the Lecturer. The Course of Recitations embraces the important departments of Common Law and its Commentaries; of Criminal, Commercial, and Admiralty Jurisprudence; of Evidence and Pleadings; and of Equity and Equity Jurisprudence and Pleadings. The Lectures relate to special topics, such as Medical Jurisprudence, bearing directly on the studies of the Class Room; or treat upon subsidiary branches essential to the comprehensive student, such as Ethics, Constitutional and International Law.

TEXT BOOKS.

The best in each department will always be chosen. The following list, subject to revision, is at present the preferred selection:

FIRST YEAR OR JUNIOR COURSE.—Blackstone's Commentaries; Williams on Real Property; Williams on Personal Property; Chitty on Contracts; Byles on Bills; Kent's Commentaries, (1st vol.)

SECOND YEAR OR SENIOR COURSE.—Stephens on Pleading; Greenleaf on Evidence; Story on the Law of Partnership; Adams' Equity; Mitford's Chancery Pleading; Parsons' Maritime Law.

MOOT COURT.

A Moot Court is held each week, at which Judge Merrick presides. Two Associate Judges are selected each month from the Senior Class. Each case is argued by four members of the School; a Senior and Junior counsel and advocate upon each side being selected from their respective classes. An opportunity is thus furnished to all the students for frequent practice both in the preparation of arguments and of judicial opinions.

CLUBS.

Associations for mutual improvement, both in the discussion of subjects connected with Law studies and practice in forensic debate, are encouraged. The Halls of the Law Building, warmed and lighted, are free for the use of such Associations.

LIBRARIES.

The Library of the Law School will be furnished with all the important Text Books, Reports, and other Books of reference. The unequalled collection of the Congressional Library is open during six hours of each day to all who wish to examine any authority, or to take notes from any book of reference, ancient or modern.

SPECIAL FACILITIES.

The City of Washington furnishes beyond any other city of the Union special facilities for the Law student as well as for the general scholar. Besides the Local Courts, both Criminal and of Common Pleas, the sessions of the Federal Courts, both the Circuit and Supreme Courts, are invaluable for practical instruction to students. Besides these, the discussions on Patent Law, the deliberations of the Court of Claims, the frequent sessions of Military and Admiralty tribunals, and the debates on Constitutional and International Law in the Halls of Congress, form a combination of facilities, to one desirous of general improvement, such as no other city affords. In addition to these direct aids, the best Lectures on subsidiary topics can be secured from able men in every department of legal science who resort to the Federal Capital.

EXAMINATIONS.

The Lectures and Recitations may be attended by any who desire to pursue either special or general Law studies. All members of the two regular classes, and all candidates for graduation, besides the daily examinations of the Class Room, are required to pass a general examination at the end of each session on all the studies of the year, in the presence of the Faculty or of such Committee as the Trustees of the College may appoint.

GRADUATION.

The power to confer the degrees both of Bachelor and Doctor in Laws is given to "The Columbian College," by their charter granted by the United States Congress. The degree of Bachelor in Laws is granted to students in the Law Department, who having passed either one or both years of the prescribed course in the school, sustain satisfactory examinations in all the studies of both the Junior and Senior Classes.

The degrees will be publicly conferred, either at the closing exercise of the session of the Law Department, or at the Annual Commencement of the Academical Department, on the fourth Wednesday in June.

EXPENSES.

The entire charge for Tuition, Lectures, use of Library, and all facilities of the School, is eighty dollars for a single year, or one hundred and fifty dollars for two years. Tickets of admission to Recitations and Lectures are issued quarterly on payment of twenty dollars in advance. Tickets to attendants on Lectures and other exercises of the School, who are not candidates for graduation, or subjects of examination, are furnished at ten dollars per quarter in advance. A charge of six dollars is made for diplomas, and of three dollars for engrossed certificates of attainment. Students from abroad can obtain board at prices as reasonable as in other cities, and at expenses graduated to their preference or necessity.

TIME OF SESSION.

The Forty-Fifth Annual Session of the National Medical College will begin on Monday, the 22d of October, 1866, and end on the 1st of March, 1867. A general introductory to the course will be given, after which the regular lectures will commence.

COLLEGE FACILITIES.

By the munificent liberality of W. W. Corcoran, Esq., the Trustees of the Columbian College have received the gift of the elegant and commodious building on H street, near 14th, for the use of the Faculty of the National Medical College. This building is located within a square of both of the city railroads, and in a most eligible situation.

The College Museum has undergone complete renovation; rare and valuable material is daily added under the superintendence of Frederick Schafhirt, formerly a well-known Prosecutor at the University of Pennsylvania, and an equally well-known contributor to, and preparer of valuable material for, the American Academy of Sciences, Philadelphia.

The Regular Lectures are held in the latter portion of the day, affording the morning hours for study of Text Books, reading in Libraries, or practical Clinical instruction.

With a view to more minute instruction, in certain special subjects, the Faculty have arranged an auxiliary course, which can be attended without additional charge, and without interference with the regular course, by all matriculated students.

Ample opportunities are afforded for Clinical instruction. At the College, Medical and Surgical Clinics are held on Wednesdays and Saturdays. The Military Hospitals still existing about the city, and other General Hospitals now demanded by the wants of the greatly increased population of Washington, furnish added facilities.

TEXT BOOKS AND WORKS OF REFERENCE.

On Anatomy.—Leidy's or Gray's Anatomy; Dalton's Physiology.

Materia Medica.—Wood & Bache's Dispensatory; Wood's or Stille's Therapeutics.

Surgery.—Druit or Gross' Surgery; Paget's Surgical Pathology.

Obstetrics.—Ramsbotham's or Churchill's Midwifery; West or Condie on Diseases of Children.

Practice.—Wood's or Watson's practice.

Chemistry.—Fowne's Chemistry.

ADVANTAGES OF THE CITY.

The location of the College at the seat of the National Government affords extraordinary advantages to the medical student. At no other city in the country can there be found so large an amount of illustration of medical and collateral branches of science freely and gratuitously open to the student. These advantages increase in proportion with the advancing importance of the Metropolitan City.

The City of Washington is the centre of the medical organization of the Army of the United States, and it is the point at which the results gathered throughout the country are concentrated and put into a tangible and useful form. The Museum established by the Medical Department of the United States Army is now equal, if not superior, to any similar collection in the world. Its material has been obtained from a greater number of cases, and from a greater variety of climate, than that which has ever yet been brought together in one place in any country. The illustrations are abundant for the Medical as well as for the Surgical Department of Military practice, while the number and the variety of the specimens render the collection unrivaled, since it cannot be reproduced in any other place.

The Libraries of Congress, the Smithsonian Institution, and the Patent Office, enriched with rare and costly works in all the departments of science and literature, afford opportunities for the profitable employment of hours of leisure from professional study, which are seldom equaled anywhere.

EXPENSES.

Expense of full course of Lectures by all the Professors, . . .	$105 00
Single Tickets,	15 00
Practical Anatomy, by the Demonstrator,	10 00
Matriculating Fee, payable only once,	5 00
Graduating Expenses,	30 00

No charge is made for Clinical Lectures. Payment of the fees is required in all cases, and tickets must be taken out at the commencement of the session. Remission or deduction of fees, and taking promissory notes from students, are forbidden by the By-Laws of the College.

The price of board and of all other personal expenses is as reasonable in Washington as in the other large cities of the Union.

GRADUATION.

The degrees are conferred by the authority of the Columbian College, incorporated by an act of the Congress of the United States of America

The requisites for graduating are, that the candidate shall have attended the Lectures of each Professor two full courses, or one full course in this school, and one full course in some other respectable institution. He must have a fair moral character, and he shall have dissected during at least one session. He shall have entered his name with the Dean of the Faculty as a candidate for graduation, and delivered to him an Inaugural Dissertation upon some medical subject thirty days before the close of the session, and passed a satisfactory examination.

PRIVILEGES OF GRADUATES.

All persons who have attended two full courses of Lectures in this School are entitled to attend succeeding courses free of expense.

Graduates of other accredited medical colleges after three years are required to matriculate only. Prior to the expiration of three years, the fee for a general ticket is $50. All regular medical colleges in good standing are accredited.

Students desiring further information are requested to communicate with the Dean of the Faculty.

Any, however, who desire, are admitted to the Recitations and Lectures of the School; their graduation depending on their success in mastering the daily exercises and in passing the final examinations.

SESSIONS.

The entire Course of Study embraces two years: beginning with the second Wednesday in October and closing the second Wednesday of June following. The exercises of the School are all held after the usual office hours, which close at 3 o'clock; thus giving to students the entire day for study, for reading in the public Libraries, and for attending the several Courts of the Capital; and at the same time enabling young men engaged in office duties to avail themselves of the facilities of the School.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The School is divided into two classes, a Junior and Senior. Daily Recitations, in connection with Text Books, are conducted by the Officers of Instruction: the Teacher reading a prelection, abstract, or commentary on the appointed lesson, and questioning each pupil both on the text and comment. Students are desired to take notes of the Regular Lectures, and are expected to be prepared for examination by the Lecturer. The Course of Recitations embraces the important departments of Common Law and its Commentaries; of Criminal, Commercial, and Admiralty Jurisprudence; of Evidence and Pleadings; and of Equity and Equity Jurisprudence and Pleadings. The Lectures relate to special topics, such as Medical Jurisprudence, bearing directly on the studies of the Class Room; or treat upon subsidiary branches essential to the comprehensive student, such as Ethics, Constitutional and International Law.

TEXT BOOKS.

The best in each department will always be chosen. The following list, subject to revision, is at present the preferred selection:

FIRST YEAR OR JUNIOR COURSE.—Blackstone's Commentaries; Williams on Real Property; Williams on Personal Property; Chitty on Contracts; Byles on Bills; Kent's Commentaries, (1st vol.)

SECOND YEAR OR SENIOR COURSE.—Stephens on Pleading; Greenleaf on Evidence; Story on the Law of Partnership; Adams' Equity; Mitford's Chancery Pleading; Parsons' Maritime Law.

MOOT COURT.

A Moot Court is held each week, at which Judge Merrick presides. Two Associate Judges are selected each month from the Senior Class. Each case is argued by four members of the School; a Senior and Junior counsel and advocate upon each side being selected from their respective classes. An opportunity is thus furnished to all the students for frequent practice both in the preparation of arguments and of judicial opinions.

CLUBS.

Associations for mutual improvement, both in the discussion of subjects connected with Law studies and practice in forensic debate, are encouraged. The Halls of the Law Building, warmed and lighted, are free for the use of such Associations.

LIBRARIES.

The Library of the Law School will be furnished with all the important Text Books, Reports, and other Books of reference. The unequalled collection of the Congressional Library is open during six hours of each day to all who wish to examine any authority, or to take notes from any book of reference, ancient or modern.

SPECIAL FACILITIES.

The City of Washington furnishes beyond any other city of the Union special facilities for the Law student as well as for the general scholar. Besides the Local Courts, both Criminal and of Common Pleas, the sessions of the Federal Courts, both the Circuit and Supreme Courts, are invaluable for practical instruction to students. Besides these, the discussions on Patent Law, the deliberations of the Court of Claims, the frequent sessions of Military and Admiralty tribunals, and the debates on Constitutional and International Law in the Halls of Congress, form a combination of facilities, to one desirous of general improvement, such as no other city affords. In addition to these direct aids, the best Lectures on subsidiary topics can be secured from able men in every department of legal science who resort to the Federal Capital.

EXAMINATIONS.

The Lectures and Recitations may be attended by any who desire to pursue either special or general Law studies. All members of the two regular classes, and all candidates for graduation, besides the daily examinations of the Class Room, are required to pass a general examination at the end of each session on all the studies of the year, in the presence of the Faculty or of such Committee as the Trustees of the College may appoint.

GRADUATION.

The power to confer the degrees both of Bachelor and Doctor in Laws is given to "The Columbian College," by their charter granted by the United States Congress. The degree of Bachelor in Laws is granted to students in the Law Department, who having passed either one or both years of the prescribed course in the school, sustain satisfactory examinations in all the studies of both the Junior and Senior Classes. The degrees will be publicly conferred, either at the closing exercise of the session of the Law Department, or at the Annual Commencement of the Academical Department, on the fourth Wednesday in June.

EXPENSES.

The entire charge for Tuition, Lectures, use of Library, and all facilities of the School, is eighty dollars for a single year, or one hundred and fifty dollars for two years. Tickets of admission to Recitations and Lectures are issued quarterly on payment of twenty dollars in advance. Tickets to attendants on Lectures and other exercises of the School, who are not candidates for graduation, or subjects of examination, are furnished at ten dollars per quarter in advance. A charge of six dollars is made for diplomas, and of three dollars for engrossed certificates of attainment.
